Pinehurst Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Pinehurst, N. C., March 11.—All Pinehurst is in a buzz of anticipation over the announcement that an aviation school is to be conducted here from March 15 to April 5, in the interest of the Curtiss biplane, by Lindeberg, the decision coming as a result of the success of the school concerning the unequalled opportunities the village offers, made by Augustus Lindeberg, as the result of a visit in December. Mr. Post, it is believed, the day is not far distant when aerial tourists will be making their way southward, much of the automobile tourists now are, and "looking for places to light," as he expresses it. Sunday Panchula himself looked the ground over and was delighted with the many advantages that he came to an immediate decision, and preparations are being rushed with all possible haste under his direct personal supervision.
Several pupils and a big gallery of "fans" come with Mr. Beachey to enjoy the sport, which now has as devotees, following the success and as an entertainment novelty the school promises to be the biggest feature in the history of the village. The program included instruction in the art of aviation, and arrangements whereby passengers may enjoy the delights of a scheduled, the probable date, Wednesday, March 25.
Interest of a week of midseason action centered in the annual spring golf tournament and the equestrian gymnastics, for which latter event the entire colony assembled, including the unique and varied, including ring tilting, jumping, and horsemanship test and amusing pet and equestrian races; an even dozen participating. Mr. R. E. Tiedemann, of Pinehurst, N. C., is the champion of the village, N. S. Hurd, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Leonard, of Boston; G. Tyler Smith, of Richmond, and E. H. Van Sickler, of Roanoke. At the annual trophy was awarded in the jumping exhibition, and Mr. Van Sickler in the horsemanship test. Mr. Balfe won the men's prize in the potato race, and Mr. Tiedemann, the women's prize, and Mr. Latting, the men's in ring tilting.
Other affairs included numerous teas, dinners, luncheons and dances, not to mention picnics and evening rides, for wondrous moonlight has turned night into day and waking hours have been far too short.
